NEW STUFF

Babel, by R.F. Kuang

This book is a mixture of fantasy and historical fiction. Robin Swift, who has cholera, is brought to London by a strange professor named Lovell. While he is there, he trains for what feels like forever learning Latin, Ancient Greek, as well as Chinese. He is preparing for the day when he will enroll at Oxford University's Royal Institute of Translation, otherwise known as Babel.

MS. LANCER'S BOOK O' THE MONTH

A Snake Falls to Earth by Darcie Little Badger

Nina is a Lipan girl in our world. She's always felt there was something more out there. Oli is a cottonmouth kid, from the land of spirits and monsters. He's found a new home on the banks of the bottomless lake. Nina and Oli have no idea the other exists. But a catastrophic event on Earth and a sick friend will drive their worlds together in ways they haven't been in centuries. And there are some who will kill to keep them apart.

WHAT'CHA READIN'?

A round up of books that folks enjoyed over the summer.

STUDENT PICK

Ruben recommends Frazbear Frights: The Cliffs, as it is a good horror and mystery book, and thinks people should give it a shot to read as it was worth all of their time!

TEACHER PICK

Litz (H.S. Math teacher) read The House in the Cerulean Sea, and he believed it was a really creative and fun read that supports the LGBTQ+ community.

TEACHER PICK

Mr. Short, a student teacher here at Big Picture, recommends Jujutsu Kaisen vol. 8, thought the story, as well as the artwork was very intriguing. He likes how the author blends mathematical concepts into one of the character's power sets. (P.S. Read the books before this one first!)
