All of us want to make a lasting impression. Whether it be on a new student, a teacher, or even our friends.

Impressions, be they good or bad, play a part in everyone's life, especially here at Kenmore East. From sports, to activities, to just plain fooling around, KE has made a lasting impression on all of us.

Students of KE have a hard time naming just one thing that has made a lasting impression on them during their four years here. Things from band trips to pep rallies are among the list from students and teachers.

The staff of Spectrum 1992 hopes that this book will be with you in the years to come to remind you of the many things which have left Lasting Impressions.

High School Friendships Leave Lasting Impressions on All of Us

Some Lessons Aren't Taught In Class

It seems adults always like to emphasize the importance of everything we learn in class. Seldom highlighted are the many lasting lessons and learning times which actually take place outside the classroom. Math, science, and English are important, but sometimes the lessons of friendship and teamwork can be more intense and far reaching. Supporting friends through bad days and silly mistakes can be as demanding a task as maintaining an A average.

I can't help but wonder what is truly the most important lesson of high school. One can survive life without a working knowledge of dangling participles or the periodic table, but friendship is one thing without which people cannot exist happily.

Track is one school activity that draws friends closer together.

Jill Evans, Kelly Murphy, and Tracey Gifford celebrate their soccer victory.

Melissa Jasen and Carey Finn help each other on an assignment.

"What about K.E. has made a lasting impression on you?"

"Sports teams, pep assemblies, school spirit, and all my friends."

-Jeff Boyack

Melissa LeCastre, Rachel Fiscus, and Tracy Couvutsakis share a laugh at homecoming.

K.E. seniors give three cheers for friendship.

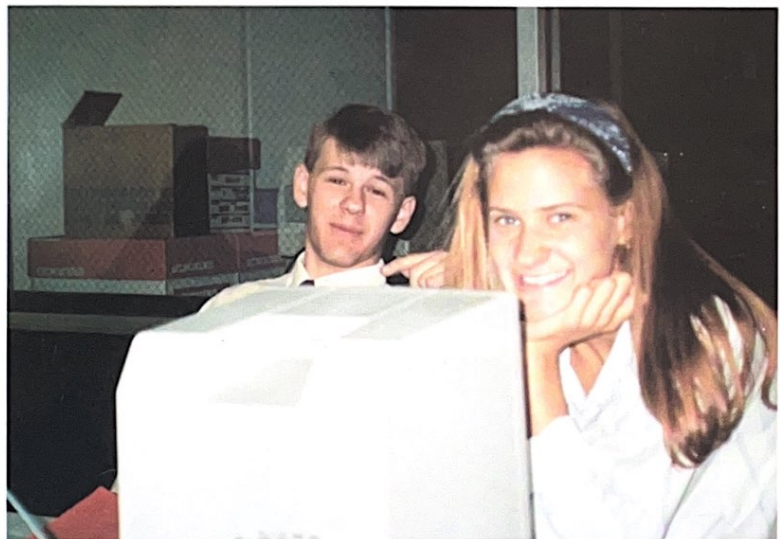

Jessica Smith and Karl Selak take time out from Booster Club to relax.

Claire McKnight and Rachel Graff like to go places together.

Kory Schuler helps his friend, Barb Young, on the computer

Nick Salonikis and Melanie Kush support each other at Homecoming '92.

Walking through the halls can show the ways in which we support our friends. We offer advice and know how to listen. We laugh and cry over relationships and we are usually able to forgive and forget.

We've come a long way from elementary school when a close friendship could dissolve today and be re-established tomorrow. Hopefully the people we are close to now will still be around to stand by us years from today.

Homecoming Spirit Reigns

Bulldog Spirit Cannot be Crushed, Even by Defeat

Homecoming. Just that one word brings back positive memories and high spirits for anyone who has experienced it. Very few other events can bring a school together to work together and celebrate as effectively.

Many greeted their friends with a hug and a few words of excitement, for the spirit was everywhere. No one could escape Parker Field without being "attacked" by an immense amount of confetti thrown by students.

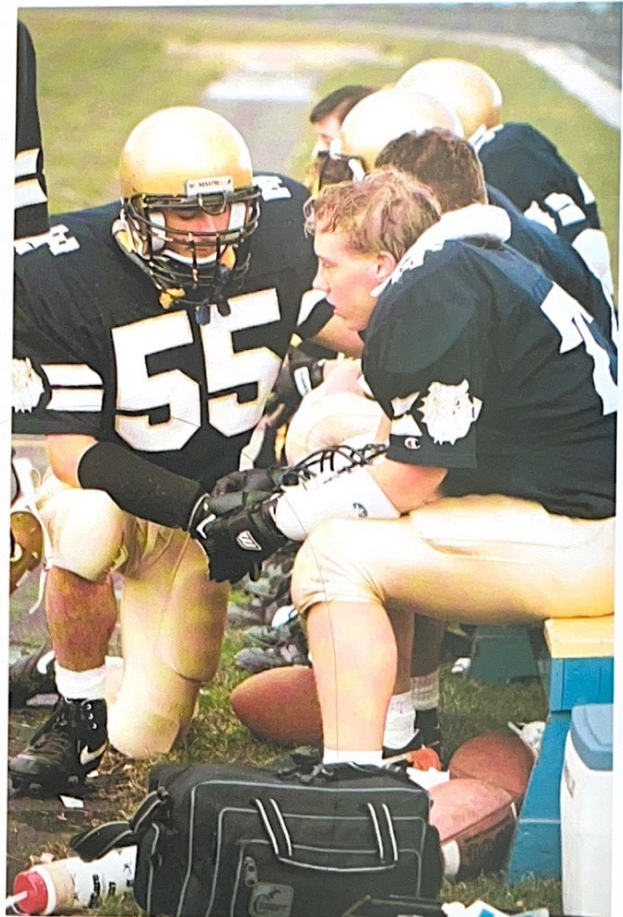

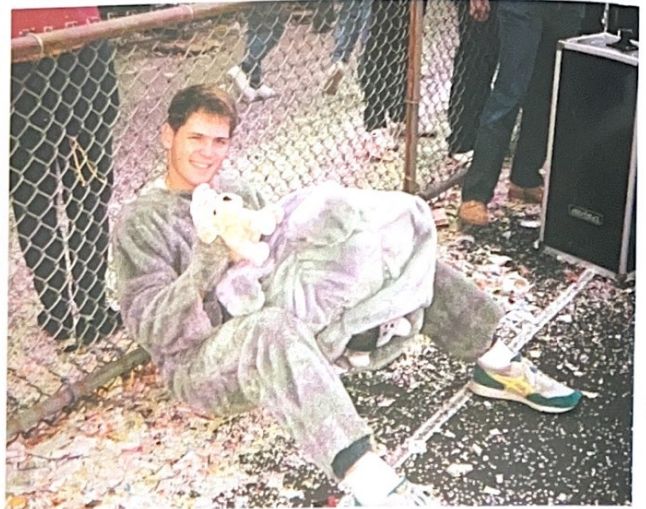

Dave Palermo takes a break from his work as the K.E. Bulldog.

Tom Atkins rests and watches the team play.

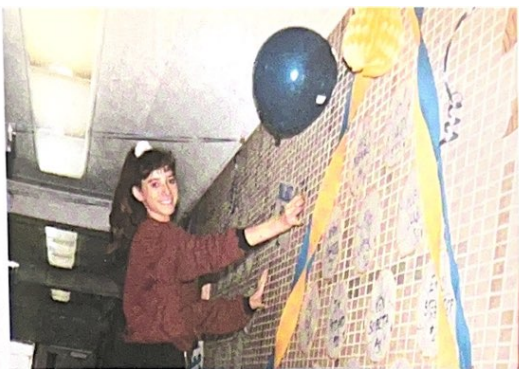

Jen Fiorello and Jen Joseph cheer on the Bulldogs at Homecoming '92.

Seniors exhibit their float for a Hawaian Homecoming.

"Sports and Friends"
-Jamie Cervola

Homecoming is the one time of year when, win or lose, our school spirit shines in everyone. Homecoming proved to be yet another successful event that brought the teachers and students of Kenmore East closer together.

The disappointment filled the air as KE was losing 32-0, at halftime. However, in the fourth quarter with less than one minute left the Kenmore East Bulldogs scored a touchdown. The crowd roared with excitement as we realized that it would not be a shutout.

"Unity at Homecoming" -Jennifer Fiorello

Nicole Marchese decorates for spirit week.

Sue Ellis boogies at the Homecoming dance.

Changes Will Benefit K.E.

Impressions of the Old KE Last

Just seeing the changes in our school brings memories of a time when the school outside had a face lift, and the first floor was a bright shade of psychedelic orange. Now, it is all contrasted with a pale white background with blue and gold lockers and stripes to remind us of the school spirit that reigns throughout Kenmore East.

Tom Atkins and Mike Maniscalco use the latest machines in the new Fitness Room.

Even the library is not safe from change.

Jeff Gior stands by his old orange locker on the second floor.

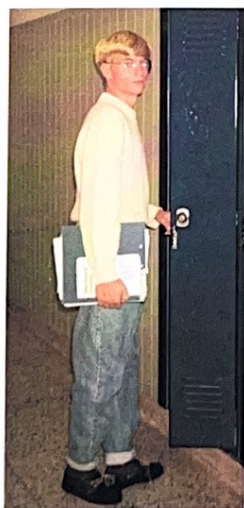

Anthony Silvestri sits in one of the old computer rooms in the first floor.

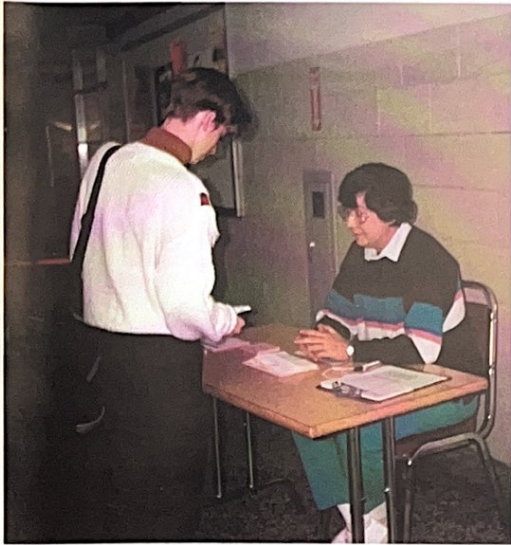

"The way
KE has changed."
-Jennifer
Baty

The true color of Katie Burzynski's locker shines through.

Nathan West stands at his blue locker which used to be green.

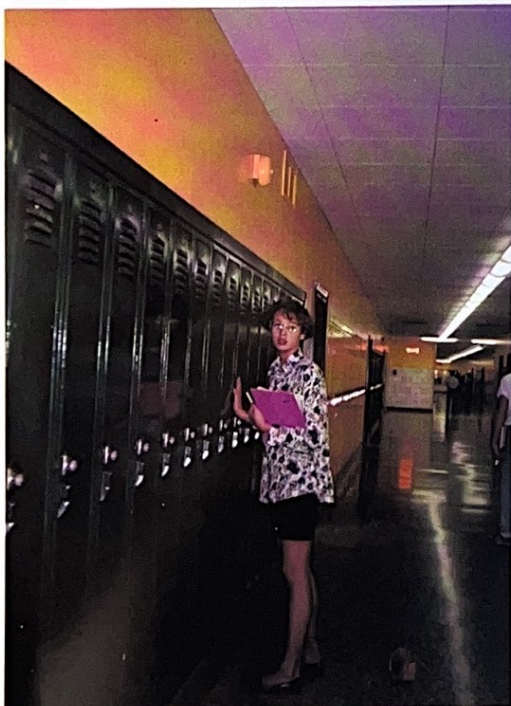

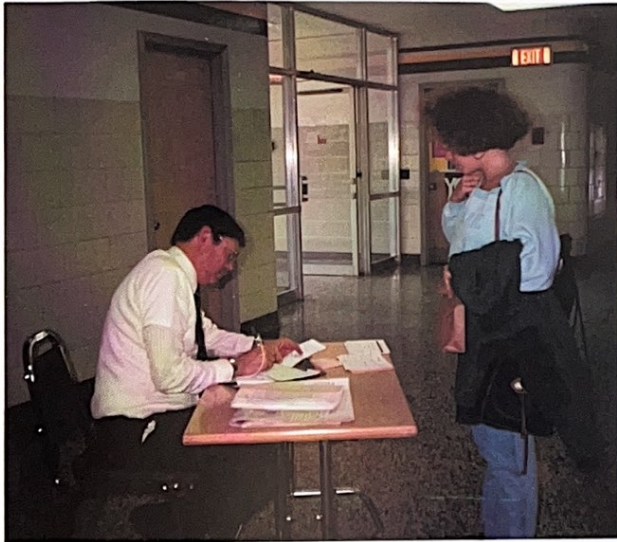

Although the yellow halls of the third floor bring back memories of the old KE, the new atmosphere is starting to take over the old.

One major addition to Kenmore East, that will benefit many of the students, is the new fitness room. This costly addition to our school will be a positive influence on many who otherwise may not have the time or initiative to get in shape.

Another change is the modified disciplinary system. Based on the theory that students cannot learn if they are not in class, in school suspension has been done away with, and been replaced by long Saturday detentions.

Kenmore East has always been an exceptional school with a positive attitude and school spirit. The new look of the school cannot change these things, but by updating its image, KE is preparing itself for the changing times, and for many new things to come.

Mrs. Collins takes a pass from a late student as part of the new tardiness policy

"The colorful and then not so colorful walls."

-Katie Burzynski

Mr. Zimmerman hands out a late slip to a tardy student.

A phys. ed. student tries out the new stair climbers.

A vertical shot of the new hallway striping.

Amy Bondanella's locker shows sharp contrast with the walls.

The new look highlights the old hallways.

Exchanges Offer Opportuninies

Foreign Students Offer New Perspectives on American Life

The Spectrum had the opportunity to talk to German student Thomas Dörsing, who stayed with KE student Angela Gorney in the October exchange.

"Getting on the plane in Germany I felt very excited to be going to America. My group is very lucky because it will be a very good experience. I was also very happy to be flying because it was my first plane ride.

"Toronto is a very big city. In Germany, we don't have such big cities. but I don't think I would like to live in a city that size, it is too big.

"As I got off the bus I felt very nervous. I had no idea what my family would be like. Then once I met my family it became better."

Kenmore East students are drawn to the familiar golden arches in an unfamiliar Japan.

Gary Kostka's stomach seems slow to adjust to American junk food.

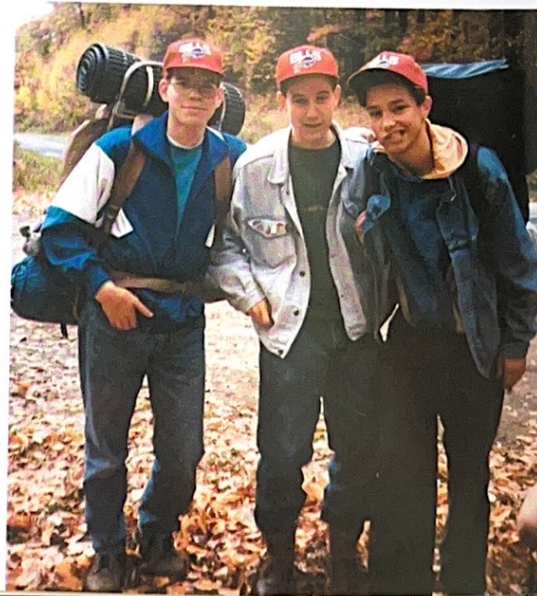

Andre Mannel is having a wonderful time at KE.

Stephanie Pohlmann appears lost amid a crowd of strange people.

German students Mark Jasper, Thomas Doersing, and Andre Mannel had the opportunity to go on a Wilderness Club backpacking trip.

"Holding a piece of the past in my hand - the Berlin Wall."

-Lynn Wilson

SENIORS

Holding on to the ...

Memories

My How We've Grown Through the Years. . .

When we were babies our lives seemed so simple and carefree. As seniors, we can look back and wonder, "Where has all the time gone?". Through our years of adolescence, we learned so much about life and ourselves.

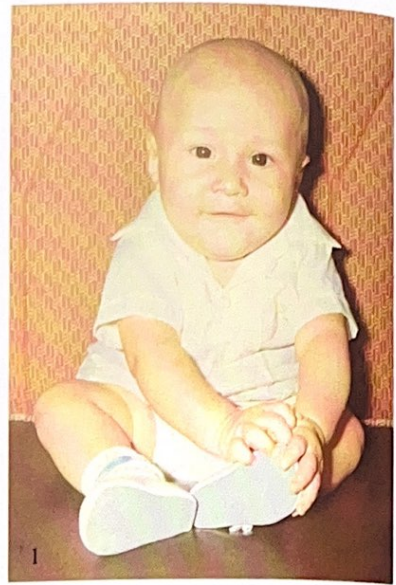

Sooner or later, we all have to "grow up". Along with "growing up" comes many changes. We are all starting on a new journey with only the unknown ahead of us. For everyone of us, our lives are books just waiting to be written. On each page in those books will be placed new experiences and memories along with pieces of our past.

As we go back and look at all the baby pictures, it brings back all those fond memories. It is these memories that we cherish so deeply. Those are the times that we will never be able to replace. Billy Joel sums up it best in one of his song when he says: "These are the times to remember for they will not last forever. These are the days to hold on to....."

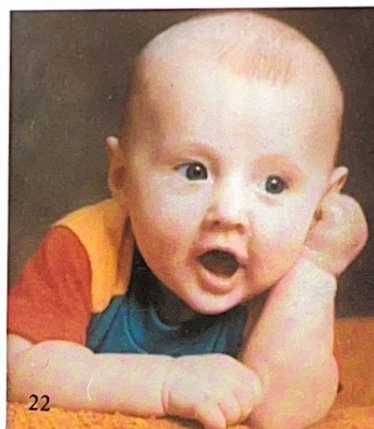

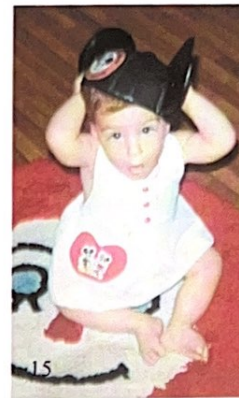

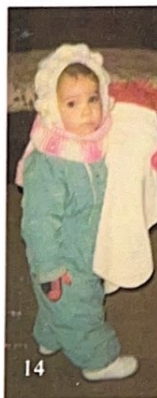

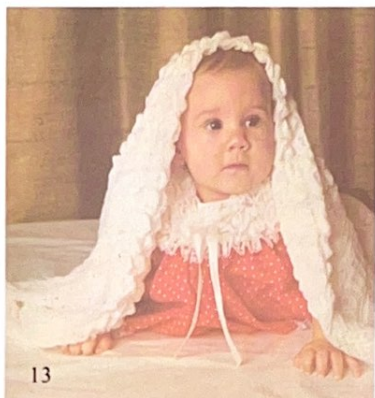

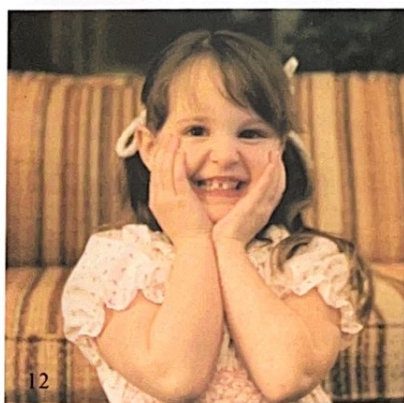

-Elizabeth Vejins

"When I look back, I almost can't believe it. We're not the same people we used to know."

-"Someone" Rembrandts

Driving Anxiety

A License at Last!

Of course you remember your sixteenth birthday! The most important thing was applying for a learner's permit!

At the DMV you were forced to approach a nasty clerk behind an enormous desk. She hastily gave you an eye exam and threw you a written test. As you glanced over the exam, you realized that you did not know much about driving in the fog or those odd-shaped yellow signs. With all anxiety aside, you probably passed.

Mom or Dad took you for endless hours of practice. Signing up for your road test was next on your list. Like clockwork, that awful clerk was there again. She ripped your permit papers from your hands, stamped them, and told you where to report for your road test.

After three weeks, the big test day arrived. The examiner coldly said hello, then instructed you to maneuver a parallel park, a three point turn, and to utilize some hand signals. She informed you of every minute error you made, but passed you anyway. "Well, it's all over," you pondered. "Now I just have to persuade Dad to let me use the car tonight!"

-Jennifer Fiorello

Freedom

1. At least she showed up!
2. And the STRESS begins.
3. "Here goes nothing!"
4. Looks like she passed.

Best of Times

Friends Are Always a Part of You

After a while you learn that what you are is all the experiences and all the thoughts you've ever had and all the people who have touched your life, no matter how briefly.

After a while you learn that troubles are temporary and relationships aren't always permanent. You learn that many people come into your life and fade into forgetfulness, while others remain as warm places in your heart. You learn to forgive the bad times and overcome the resentments. And you learn to live with love in your heart for the good times and for the good friends who may not be present, but who never go away, because the warmth of their friendship and their essence lives within you and becomes a part of what you are.

-Winfred Stewart Brown

1. A hug from Steve Robek will make anyone smile.

2. True friends stay together.

3. Cute smiles from cute girls.

4. Homecoming is celebrated.

5. Tom, Dan, and Liz pose for a quick pic.

6. Pick up your next issue of Vogue.

Senior Campout

Cold Days - Hot Times

One of the most unforgettable high school memories would have to be the Senior Campout. The anticipation before the campout was unbearable. Nothing could go wrong! Or could it? Two days before the big event, our world was shattered, the campout was cancelled. What were we going to do? Well, go someplace else, of course, and that's exactly what we did.

Mentioning all the great things that happened would take up a whole yearbook in itself, so we will mention only a few.

Sleep was not an option that night due to many uncontrollable circumstances. The one that stands out the most is Frank. Thanks to our psycho senior guys, we were all protected through the night. (Thanks guys!)

Who can forget the cold and the rain. Eventually the weather did not phase us due to our very "happy" state.

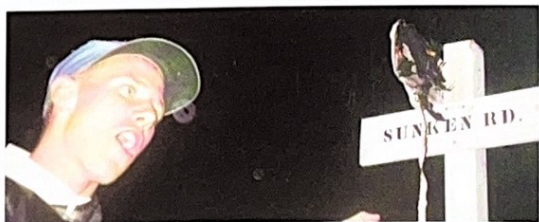

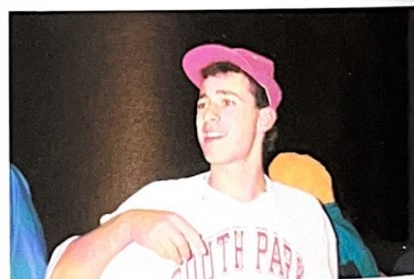

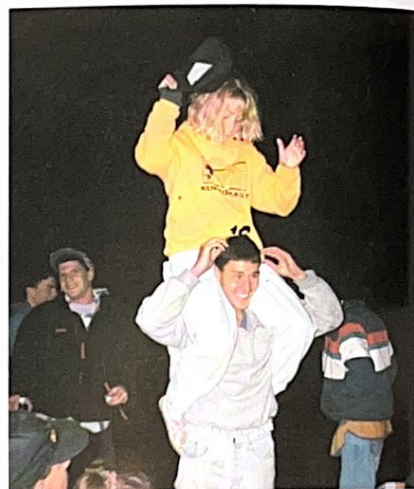

Talks around the campfire brought the senior class closer together, and soon all the cliques began to disappear. We can never overlook the unusual "friendships" that developed. Even though some of these friendships will be forgotten, the memories will last a lifetime.

Who will ever forget the "borrowed" items that can never be returned? Let's mention a few of the most famous: the cannon, the confederate flag, and the street sign. We are thankful to them for keeping us warm all night.

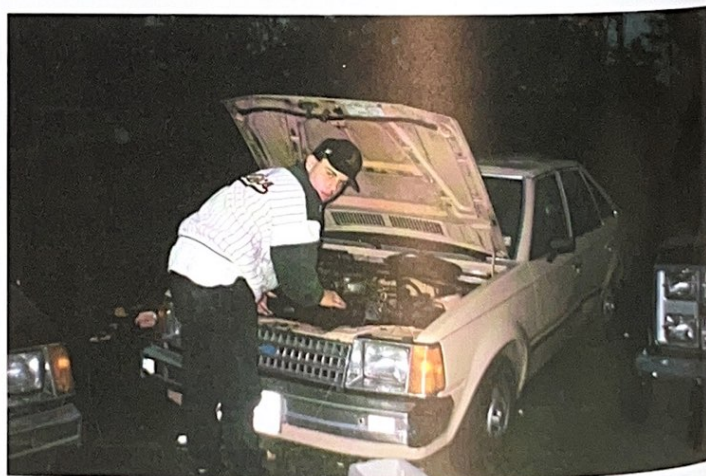

Unfortunately, it all had to come to an end, but not before we had the most memorable breakfast of a lifetime. It consisted of donuts, chips, candy, and orange juice.

No one cared what he looked like or how he acted that weekend. All that mattered was that we were together.

-Julia Fetes and Leanne Reuman

1. Do we have to go home now?
2. Do these two ever separate?
3. So where are all the GIRLS?
4. Hey, you are not a senior?
5. Why don't YOU fix it?

Unforgettable

6. Seniors survive the rain.
7. I'm on my way!
8. Adam sleeps like a baby.
9. The odd couple.
10. Thank God for sleeping bags!
11. The night before.
12. The morning after.
13. What a happy camper!

J U N I O R S

Junior Spirit

The class of 1993 started out as an unsure group of freshmen in the fall of 1989.

As we have progressed into upperclassmen, we have witnessed many things at East, such as our victory in the 1990 homecoming parade and our countless fundraising events (even though the profits were sometimes small). Our spirit and pride in K.E. has grown and will continue to do so throughout our remaining years.

As the school year begins in 1992, a fantasy becomes reality. We are SENIORS! In the past we've made difficult decisions, worked hard, and had many good times, but the best is yet to come.

We hope everyone has a great summer and a successful senior year. Thank you for the best three years of our lives so far!

Time Keeps Ticking

" '93 is gonna shout, Maryvale can cruise on out! Blow your horn pull into dock, junior class is gonna rock! " Does this chant bring you back to homecoming '91? For members of the junior class, homecoming usually means fluff parties and much confusion. After spending hours in the freezing cold, a group of juniors finished the enormous float, which captured second place of $100. The next money maker for the junior class was the '93 dance. This one was different from all other dances at KE because it started at 9:00 and ended at midnight. However, the dance on the juniors' minds was the junior ball, which we have eagerly awaited since freshmen year. Thus, the two extremes of the junior year are homecoming and our prom!

Denise Christian and Brian Hillman rest after a fun day in the sun.

Entering KE as freshmen, we met so many new people and shared an infinite number of smiles. Some of those smiles led to first dates, which led to waiting eagerly by the phone. Although you aren't always thrilled with the results, not every two people can light the flame that a relationship burns on. If you're lucky enough to make it to a second or third date, you are on the road to happiness, tears, and much more. As most juniors feel they have mastered the art of dating, I'm not sure anyone ever does!

Juniors dream. Filling our minds with fantasies, our dreams start to be achieved during the course of the junior year. It is "the hardest year" and most important. Colleges hold our junior year in highest regard.

Have you ever thought about where you'll be ten years from now? Most juniors have dreams ranging from a professional football star to President. The class of '93 can't wait to make our own personal mark on the world!

SOPHOMORES

Viewpoints

In retrospect, my first few days as a sophomore presented a distinct change from my previous freshman experience. Perhaps it was the new courses or the different teachers. There was, however, a certain intangible quality that made the change so profound. The sophomore year was a key point in our lives. We were not yet ready to cope with adult responsibilities, but we were in such a state of constant flux that we rarely got a chance to stop and realize what is happening to our minds and bodies. The tumultuous and slightly immature days of our freshman year are behind us as we await many more new and exiting experiences.

The sophomore year was filled with a variety of emotional experiences. We began to become more attached to our peers emotionally and physically. We learned to love, laugh in the midst of sadness, and cry with joy. These extremes left their mark upon us in some way so as to affect our future lives. These impressions are the ones that make us who we are.

We are at a beautiful time in our lives. Perhaps we should enjoy these precious moments with youthful enthusiasm. There is a long, winding road ahead, but may the wind be at our backs.

Looking Ahead . . .

It's hard to believe that we're finally at the midpoint of our high school career. After two years we are now ready for the toughest challenge, our junior year. It will be filled with tests, college preparations, and many worries. Even with all these extra responsibilities we can look forward to September when we'll all be back for another year. We will be upperclassmen, have our first prom, and we'll be one step closer to graduating. Our class has already begun developing it's friendship and we'll only continue to grow closer.

A Winning Season

One of the most outstanding features of the sophomore class was the JV football team. Consisting of thirty tenth graders, this year's "Junior Bulldogs" documented a winning season with a record of six, one, and one, including a victory over rival Ken West. Coached by Chris Heximer, Dave Nowak, and Dave West, the team was taught the most important fundamentals of football and life. Teamwork, cooperation, and "heart" were familiar words stressed in every practice.

As the season came to a close, it was obvious that every person involved in this year's success had grown into a family. After the West game, the coaches, players, parents, and cheerleaders gathered in the locker room for a brief meeting, where words of wisdom and tears of joy were exchanged. It was a sad but exciting moment for everyone as the JV season had officially ended. With misty eyes, everyone raised one fist in the air, and on the count of three shouted "HEART!" The tremendous emotion will forever be remembered, and a winning season for K.E. has begun.

Rising To The Top

With every year of high school, a class grows smarter and more creative. This year, the sophomore class showed the upperclassmen how much they have grown by taking first place in the homecoming float competition.

In addition, we added funds to our treasury by having a car wash during the summer. Approximately thirty sophomores joined together in this fund raiser which profited $200 for the class.

Also, on November 15, 1991, the sophomores sponsored a dance, under the new dance policy, which unfortunately was poorly attended.

Hopefully in the future, more students will become involved, thus making the class of 1994 even more successful.

FRESHMEN

Our other Class of '95 advisor is Miss Cavalli. The freshmen staff was privileged to get an interview with her. Miss Cavalli graduated from UB, where she majored in political science and French. This is her first year teaching and not only does she teach French I at KE, but she also teaches French II, III, and IV at Mount Mercy Academy. Her parents come from a region of France near the German border. Miss Cavalli has been to France three times and she studied there for a year. We are glad to have such an experienced person as one of our advisors.

- Lauren Salomon

A Good Start

It wasn't hard for me to come to Kenmore East. I didn't think I was going to get lost but I did once or twice. My sister Dona helped and explained most of the ropes to me. She gave me a lot of good advice. When I was in seventh grade, I started to run varsity track for KE. Then, in eighth grade, I ran outdoor and indoor track and played JV soccer. I got used to being around older teens, easier than most freshmen. In the beginning, I think we all got teased about being freshmen, but as Class President, I didn't mind. At first, I thought it was cake, but all the competition between classes started. I don't think I could have handled it without Ms. Benzen and our class advisors, Mr. Hathaway and Miss Cavalli. I'm also thankful for the support of my V.P. Next year I think there's going to be a lot more class spirit.

I want to say that this was a great year and I hope our future years at KE are just like this one or better.

Weekend Fun

On the weekends, freshmen from Kenmore East pack their spare time with various activities. Some go to the movies to watch the latest flicks, while others spend their time at the local malls. Friday dances are another popular event. A few "privileged" students have jobs such as paper routes, babysitting, and working at neighborhood stores.

Others contribute to many KE sports teams. Of course there are the few who sleep the weekend away or stay home and watch television. Much to their dismay, though, the weekend fun dwindles down as another week of school begins.

Through our lives, no freshman will forget the highlights of our first year in high school. One of the biggest moments of the ninth grade was our first day. As we searched for our first room number, we began to relax as soon as we realized that it wasn't that hard to find our way around. Another unforgettable moment was the Homecoming game. Although this game was a losing cause, we continued to cheer for our varsity team on that very chilly day. Along with the Homecoming game, was the pep rally. The confetti, ear piercing cheers, music, and the games are part of the many thoughts that come to mind when thinking of our first pep rally. The dances are another remembrance of our freshmen year. The music was always played at, what seemed like, the highest possible volume and the temperature of the gym was almost always like a sauna. There is one other memory that goes along with our first year at Kenmore East and that is the friends that we made.

Freshmen Faves

While tallying the results of the Freshmen Favorites Survey, I was excited when I found out that Paula Abdul won by a landslide with fifty-three votes. Ghost was the freshmen's choice for favorite movie with twenty-two votes, and Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves came in second with fifteen votes. The race for favorite t.v. program was close, but Beverly Hills 90210 came in first with forty-nine votes and The Fresh Prince of Bel Air came in second with thirty-six votes. Luke Perry won for best actor with twenty-four votes. Julia Roberts was the favorite actress with fifty-five votes and Demi Moore came in a "close" second with only seven votes.

The freshmen's favorite teacher was Mr. Critelli with Mr. Root close behind. The Buffalo Bills won by a landslide with ninety-two votes. There were many choices for favorite sports figure, but Thurman Thomas won with twenty-one votes. The varied choices in these twelve categories goes to show you that every freshmen is just a little different.

First Day Follies

The dreaded first day. All freshmen have nightmares about the first day of high school. A myriad of questions races through our minds on the night before our first day. Will we find our homerooms? Will we be lost within the never-ending darkness of the corridors of our new school? All questions are answered as we enter the doorway. We barely find the homeroom numbers to match our already despised schedule. As we enter the room, our fears dissipate when we begin to recognize some of our middle school friends. We take a seat among our old familiar friends and await the lecture of our newly appointed teachers.

KE Teams

During the year, the School Planning Team came up with the idea of a ninth grade team. The team is made up of eighty-two regents students. On their schedule, each student belongs to a lettered group, "a" through "s". The groups have four to five students in them and a student gets a different group each marking period. The first four classes are made up of four to five groups. The four team teachers are Mr. Root, Mrs. Deutschlander, Mrs. Root, and Mr. Critelli. The purpose of having this team is to help students pass the classes that they have trouble in. As a member of the team, I feel that the team's purpose is working for most team members.

High School Horror Stories

Every freshman is anxious before their first day of high school. They've heard horror stories about food fights, about getting egged, and about being the victim of an infamous swirlie. We have many questions, some of them being: will we fit in, will we keep our grades up, and will we be able to catch our bus? We heard that our schedules would be extremely tough, that the teachers gave hours of homework and, worst of all, that the upperclassmen enjoyed slamming us into lockers. We also heard that many upperclassmen try to confuse the freshmen by misdirecting them or telling them about the "fourth floor". Of course, when we reached KE everything worked out. We might even call the upperclassmen nice!

Highlights of the Class of '92

"This is the place I've waited years to leave."
-The Pet Shop Boys

Since our first days as freshmen, the class of '92 has waited for the day that we will leave Kenmore East. Because it symbolizes the culmination of years of hard work, major decisions, and good times. We are now ready to leave the security of high school and enter a new period of freedom and independence. Good and bad memories of these years will always linger, but there is no turning back. We are not the innocent teens who walked in four years ago, but we still have much to experience, learn, and achieve.

Julie Perry
Valedictorian

As we quickly approach the long awaited day of graduation, our excitement at the prospect of breaking free from the familiar and experiencing more of life builds. As we look ahead, we should take the time to remember that Kenmore East has had a great effect on our life. Throughout the years spent here, we have all changed and grown. We would all be different today if we had not known each other. As we face uncertain times, it should be comforting to remember that there are people with whom we have shared experiences, and that we have the certainty that those memories are ours and no situation can change that. To my friends and classmates, I wish success and happiness in the near and far future.

Changes in NHS

The Kenmore East National Honor Society is incorporating new ideas with old traditions to create a smaller, closer group that is more involved in the school and community.

Under the capable leadership of President, Jen Cercone, and advisors Mr. Gerald Marcussen and Mr. Michael Stock, NHS has undergone several changes this year.

The most noticeable change is the delay in admitting juniors. The group decided to move the induction ceremony from November to March this year in hopes that a smaller group would be more manageable and more active.

Another change this year involves the community service that all NHS members must complete. The two service project requirements has now been changed to ten hours in an effort to balance out the work done by each member.

Congratulations to the staff of the Spectrum for an outstanding job of putting together this year's yearbook under very trying circumstances. Very often we are asked to perform unusually difficult tasks which challenge the nature of our character. As principal of Kenmore East, I have always found considerable strength in the staff members, parents and students of our school. I truly believe that we are a "Community of Learning" and together, we will accomplish excellence for all students.

A quote that means a great deal to me is from Craig Gifford: "Education needs thick-skinned leaders who can make tough decisions, face criticism, accept suggestions and most of all, defend with pride and conviction, the public education system. But, we must always be striving for improvement and seeking alternative solutions to our dilemmas."

Barbara Field

Ms. Barbara Field, Principal

Personally, I like the way Merlin, the wise wizard from authorian legend said it: "when you're feeling down, learn something new". Yet, it seems as though Merlin only gave us half the secret. If learning works when you're blue, imagine what it does when you're motivated! Of course, I mean learning in the broadest sense. It can mean on the mats, in the water, in the computer center, in chemistry, or social studies class, in the woods, or talking to a friend over lunch. You see, we need to learn more all the time so that we can "connect" better with each other. After all, isn't that our true purpose?

Wayne Nachreiner

Mr. Wayne Nachreiner, Vice-Principal

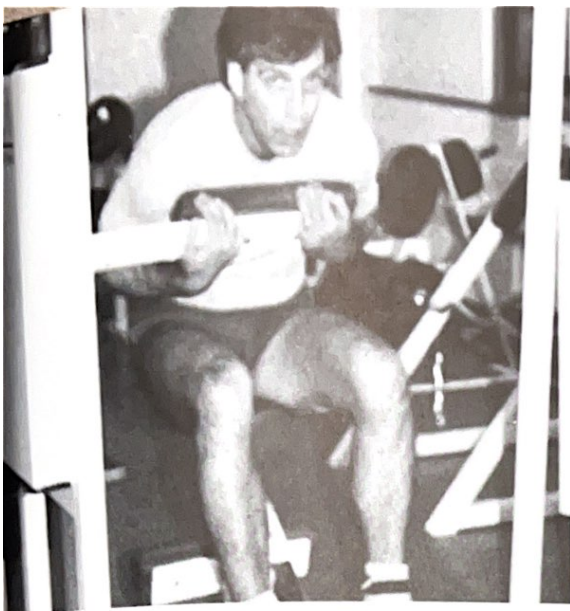

Today, the phrase "...on the cutting edge," is very popular. Unfortunately, there are few schools where one can honestly use those words in the present tense. For Kenmore East, however, it is an apt description. The dedication to increasing student skills in technology and computers, the variety of instructional situations and techniques that are employed, and the continuing research and testing of new programs to increase the effective use of our instructional time, place Kenmore East at the forefront of change in education. In our school, the future is not something to imagine, it has already arrived.

The Spectrum Features Mr. Bertsch

A man out of his time, Mr. Bertsch is a legend at KE for his cowboy attire. He has been a Special Education teacher at KE for seven years, and also coaches distance track and girls' JV soccer. He takes pride in "his kids" when they do well, in sports, academics, or in the shows here at East.

His greatest pride was coaching the 5 consecutive champion track teams - KE had the best distance runners in Section VI between 1969 and 1973.

As for his future, Mr. Bertsch owns a 50 acre ranch, on which he is building a log cabin and barn. When he retires he hopes to buy horses and live on his land. Perhaps he will happily ride off into the sunset.

The Spectrum Features Mr. Stock

"We must triumph in the war against ignorance" and "those evil liberal democrats" are phrases most often heard in Mr. Michael Stock's room. Mr. Stock is the famed teacher of AP American History and anyone who has taken that course can attest to the Conservative avalanche of ideology that he hits his "AP scholar" with. His ninth graders might be familiar with his freshman vudu doll used to torment "evil freshmen".

Many of his students agree that one of the more interesting points of class is when that "Flaming Liberal", Mr. Reuter, walks in and preaches the beauty of Liberal government and condemns the malice of conservatism.

It's a dirty job but someone has to do it!

The custodial staff of Kenmore East works extremely hard to maintain the school. This staff includes thirteen members, four of which work the day shift and nine that work nights. Their responsibilities include cleaning and maintaining the building. Before the students have arrived and after the students have left, the custodians begin their work by cleaning the school from top to bottom. Starting their job before most people are up in the morning, these custodians even work on the weekends. The custodians of KE deserve enormous credit and thanks for their hard work and dedication.

Prove to be Successful

What lasting impressions have KE athletics made on you?

Many would say that the athletic program has created new friendships and has given a greater sense of accomplishment. Those are only a few benefits that participating in sports can produce.

Athletics are a major part of high school life. They provide a change from the everyday humdrum of academics. They also bring the school closer together by boosting school spirit and giving students something to cheer for. Also, athletics often times can make a student achieve higher goals by showing that through hard work and perseverance you can get achieve almost anything that you wish to.

When participating in a sport, you put yourself through pain both physically and emotionally. But it is worth it when the game winning point turns out to be from that shot that you worked so hard to improve. This sense of accomplishment blocks out any of the bad feelings that may have been present before. In general, sports can create greater self-confidence and pride that will help you to achieve your dreams.

So what lasting impressions have athletics made on you? Well, you could say that sports have given excitement to what could have been a boring high school career and has helped you create a better future.

Basketball

Slam Dunks their Rivals

This year's boy's squad started a bit uneasy due to a loss of three starters and a sixth man to graduation last year. Coach Marv Matteson had the difficult task of finding three new starters who mixed well with the other two. During the year he had to shuffle players around to find the right mix. By midseason, Coach Matteson found that he didn't have five players that played well as a team, but seven or eight which made them interchangeable.

This year's roster included returning guard Mike O'Bryan and seniors Jeff Kelly, Jeff Juliano, Ray Holder and Adam Benzel. Along with the returning players, many young and talented athletes will be moving up which may produce an even better team for next year's season.

You can't fail to mention the boy's JV and freshman squads who also put in a great deal of time and effort to produce winning seasons. The teams should be commended for their school spirit and dedication to the sport.

Girl's Basketball

Shoots Their Way to Victory

The Kenmore East Girls' Basketball Team had one of its most successful seasons in years. Under the coaches Mr. Jack Blanch and Ms. Linda Pupszny the team has greatly improved. The team was led by captains Julie Perry, Kari Matteson, and Jessica Nelson. The leading scorer was freshman Michelle Dick and junior Julie Golata led the team in rebounding.

The season was highlighted by a victory over Ken-West, whom the team hasn't beat in years. The Lady Bulldogs also succeeded in defeating many other difficult teams such as Niagara Wheatfield, earning themselves a position in sectionals. For the '92-'93 season the girls hope to continue their winning record and establish a winning tradition for K.E. girls basketball.

You can't fail to mention the girl's JV team who put in countless hours practicing and improving their game. They will one day be valuable assets to the varsity squad.

Rifle

Shoots for the Stars

This year the rifle team was coached by newcomer, William D'Ambrosio. During the season, the team faced a number of obstacles. Mark Reisch and Jason Dale both had to leave the team unexpectedly. Even with this loss, captains Don Blatner and Cori Burr did an outstanding job of leading our team. They were also the top shooters along with Amanda D'Ambrosio. At the time of publication, their record was 3-3. Hopefully next year more people will become interested in this sport and will contribute to the team's success.

Cross Country

No Time Outs; No Substitutions

Although the rules are very straight forward, Cross Country is probably one of the most difficult of all sports. When running a race, there is more to rely upon but yourself, and no one else to blame if you do not run as fast as you would like. This years Cross Country team had a respectable season, considering that many of our last years runners were out at one time or another with injury or sickness. Joe Mecca and Erin English rose to the occasion, and with the help of Steve Bugyi, Mike Roberts, Bill Bensman and Alex Wood, the team survived and came through with a 4 - 6 record for Varsity. In the girls action, top runner Janet Kowles emerged second in the league, with only one defeat to Lockport. She went on to place tenth in the Sectional race. The top girls were Carolyn Girod, Jen Cercone, Shelia Gallagher, and Amy Bondanella. The girls' qualified for Sectionals as a team.

Leaves their Opponents in the Dust

The 1991-1992 indoor track team, coached by Mr. Gary Tocke and Mr. Dennis Cranfrini, used the long winter months to increase speed, build endurance, and develop overall fitness.

The team worked with a relaxed attitude since serious training in the halls of KE is too difficult and can result in injury. Fortunately, the addition of the fitness center to KE allowed for low impact workouts. The athletes were able to perform good cardiovascular exercise without spending the lengthy amounts of time running on hard floors that frequently causes leg and foot injuries.

Besides the practice area difficulties, the team also faced the obstacles of youth and inexperience. Only four out of the thirty-one runners were seniors. Still, captains Steve Bugyi, Bill Linton, Sheila Gallagher, and Jen Cercone led the team to some personal triumphs. Impressive performances were turned in by Amy Vardian in the 55 meter dash, Tracy Couvutsakis in the shot put, and Joe Mecca in the 1600 meter run.

The team members should be applauded for their efforts. The season is long and seems endless. Everyone can think of better things to do on their Saturdays than to get on a poorly heated bus during a snowstorm and ride out to Fredonia at 7 in the morning not to return until 6:30 that night. Yet, the indoor track team willingly does so because it's members take pride in their achievements and show a spirit that few have. As the runners gain experience, the team is sure to become top notch.

Tries for A Touchdown

This year's Varsity bulldogs suffered through a disappointing season going 0-8, but did show much of promise for next year. Senior captains Jay Obstein and Steve and Shawn Robek provided leadership but the dogs came up short. The juniors stepped up and provided decent enough play to give other teams concern for next year.

The JV bulldogs had a great season with a record of 6-1-1. Led by an unstoppable offense with Sean Campas rushing for over 1000 yards and a relentless defense they faced little in the way of competition. These dogs have only known what first place is like and we look for many of them to make an immediate impact on next year's varsity squad.

The Freshmen perhaps had the best season with a perfect 6-0 record. With quarterback Mike Aronica, tailback Dave Terpin, and an outstanding defense these dogs showed great play and poise on both sides of the ball and are hoping to repeat their success as sophomores.

In review of each team's seasons, you can be assured Ken-East will enjoy great seasons to come by next year's kick off.

Tees Off with the Best

The 1991 boy's golf team finished its season at 6-4. The starting six players consisted of Juniors: Eron Lewis, Ben Burl, and Dan Eldridge; sophomores: Josh Edholm and Jeff Ventura; and freshman: Kyle Sweeney. There were no seniors on the team this year. At the annual NFL Tournament, Eron Lewis was the only one from Ken East to qualify for the state finals, to be held in the spring.

Gymnastics

Vaults to Victory

Led by Coach Irene Leary, the gymnastics team included captains Shannon Hall and Caron Cavalleri as well as members Michelle Bannan, Shirley Rzepka and Kristie Golata.

The gymnastics team practiced every week day at 3:15 at Phillip-Sheridan School on Elmwood Ave. The members of the team competed against Maryvale, Lancaster, Williamsville, Hamburg, Sweet Home, Lewiston-Porter and Kenmore West. Sectionals were held at Lewiston Porter. This was a great experience since Ken East hasn't had a team for five years.

Here are some lasting impressions from the '92 season:

- Michelle Bannan's unsteady handstand on floor

Establishes Themselves as Tough Competitors

This year's Varsity Soccer Bulldogs came one goal shy of winning the Section VI-B-1 finals and advancing to the State Championships, and completed the best season for a Kenmore East team since 1983.

The season started with many question marks, but coach Dick White was confident that the team would come together under the leadership of tri-captains Josh Hicks, Dave Klose, and Eric Nachreiner. Through a tough Niagara Frontier League schedule, the team finished 6-4-0 in league play and completed the season with an 11-8-0 record overall, qualifying for sectional competition.

After a long season of suffering through injuries and stiff competition, the playoffs were finally imminent. In preparation for the first game against #2 Clarence, the team became closer and seemed to be on a mission. The final score was 2-1 in favor of the Bulldogs, who next advanced to the semifinals and a rematch against #1 ranked Williamsville East. The game ended with a frenzied mob of KE spectators celebrating the 1-0 victory in front of the net.

The focus then fell on Clinton H. Small Stadium and the Section VI-B-1 Finals, featuring KE and Lew-Port. Although KE came up on the short end that night, they established themselves as a local power.

The J.V. and Freshman teams should also receive much recognition for their hard work and dedication to the sport. Their constant support during games helped us to be successful. They will be great assets to next year's season.

Hopefully, this year's winning seasons will start a tradition which will be continued in the years to come. Through their effort and hard work the teams should continue improving and have excellent seasons next year.

Girl's Soccer

Strikes Back with Vengeance

This year the girl's varsity soccer team recorded one of their best seasons in years. Led by co-captains Kari Matteson and Julie Perry, the team accomplished a 5-6-3 record. The girls' success resulted from a significant improvement in team defense which led to a stronger offensive flow. Freshman Kelly Hilliman led the team in goal scoring with eight goals for the season. The season highlights include a tough comeback tie against Kenmore West and a strong showing against powerful Tonawanda.

The girls' JV team worked hard this year. Good team spirit combined with excellent effort allowed many first time players to improve themselves. Many of these players will add to the Varsity team next year.

Hopefully, this year's winning season will start a winning tradition which will be continued next year. Through the effort and hard work the girls should continue improving and have an excellent season next year.

Wrestling

The toughest sport-we are a breed apart

Despite the wrestlers youth and inexperience, they have developed into a very competitive team this year. They were lead by seniors Joe Marchese, Todd Chalmers and Ken Scholtz with excellent performances put in by the rest of the team. Although the team experienced many injuries and illnesses, they worked to achieve a record of 5-9 in one of the toughest leagues in section 6. The team has a bright future with returning varsity wrestlers Brian Banas, Randy Dick, Jeff Boyack, Jason Kumm, Chuck Guzzetta, Greg Johel and an outstanding JV squad. Their coaching staff consists of Coach Pine and Coach Heximer who put the team through vigorous training through out the season.

Many people may ask why one wants to join wrestling. It has been said that determination is the key to victory, and is proven by this sport. Wrestling is a great way to give off a little steam, cope with pressures of school, or to relieve stress. Knowing that you're in better shape or that you just outsmarted your opponent is a feeling that can never be forgotten.

KE Athletic Stars

Overcome Obstacles to Succeed

In June of 1992 the Erie County Special Olympics were held. Hardworking mentally and physically handicapped athletes and their coaches represented the Ken-Ton area.

The Special Olympics team starts practicing in February and continues until June. Coaches and athletes meet every Sunday for two hours. Students from Kenmore East volunteer their time to help train their athletes for track and field events which include shotput, softball throw, running events, and the standing long jump. Volunteers also include parents as well as students from Kenmore West.

The Special Olympics is a chance for the athletes to display their hard work and feel a sense of self accomplishment. All the athletes try their best and come out winners in the end. All the athletes and their coaches are winners. All athletes receive ribbons not only for their athletic ability, but for their hardwork and participation too. The coaches' rewards are knowing they had a part in helping the athletes achieve personal goals. Also, the feeling that the coaches get from seeing their athletes happy is quite fulfilling. Both the coaches and athletes are winners.

Swimming

Creates A Tidal Wave

Despite having a disappointing record and being a young team, the KE girls' swim team came through with high spirits. New varsity coach Amy Osbourne and alumni junior varsity coach Sean Collins helped the girls to bring down their times to competitive levels. Graduates Kim Wolf, Julie Menchetti, and Amy Erickson leave the team with pleasing accomplishments as KE swimmers. We wish them well as they 'swim' into new waters! For next year's girls' team, good luck swimmers and remember... go hard or go home!

Despite a small size, the swimmers of the Kenmore East boys' swim team had an extremely successful season. The twelve member squad met all challenges in the N. F. L. with an unrelenting spirit of competitiveness.

Under the direction of coach Lee Herbst and the motivation of captain Nathan Fitzgerald, the team pulled off some close upsets and near victories. The epitome of the season was the junior varsity and varsity N. F. L. meets. Nathan Fitzgerald, junior Erin English, and the freshman prodigy Ken Halliwell proved to be excellent representatives of the Ken East swim team. Also, the team of Nathan Fitzgerald, Erin English, Ken Halliwell, and Jon McCreedy qualified for sectionals in two relays.

The remaining varsity and JV squads performed outstandingly by grasping a variety of victories. Also the JV squad reached their desired goals at the JV N. F. L.'s. Overall, though lacking domination in numbers, the swim teams proved that they dominated the rest in talent.

Tennis

Aces All the Rest

The Kenmore East Boys' tennis team possessed experience, endurance, and a great deal of skill and intelligence. Tim Butler coached a team with over ninety percent being seniors or veterans, and a Colombian all-star named Feliepe Arrubla. With the leadership of John Tasca and Chris Frey the team met all challenges and superseded the record of the previous year by a considerable margin.

Alternating players to various positions, doubles and singles, enabled almost all of the members of the team to gain experience at all positions. This was an essential part in Mr. Butler's strategy for improving the team from the disappointing season of the previous year.

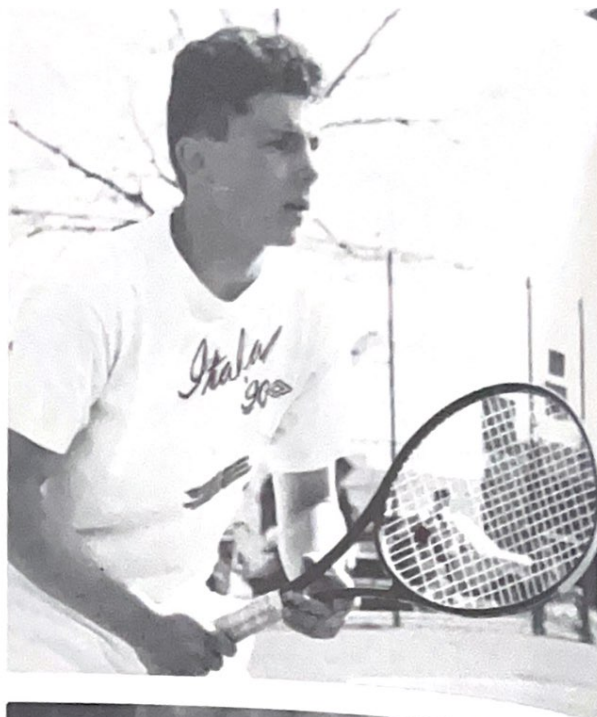

The girl's tennis team consisted of 25 dedicated girls that gave up part of their summer vacation to improve their games. The three singles players were Jill Marquis (1st), Barb Young (2nd), and Kelly Shovlin (3rd). Playing strong at doubles were Jodi Schiffmacher and Lynn Wilson (1st), also named second team NFL; Dana Schiffmacher and Becky Worczak (2nd); Moira Collins, Tiffany Franco, Carrie Frey, Erin McGrath, Emily Rosehart, and Bethany Schiffmacher rotating in at third doubles.

Although many people tend to forget about the junior varsity much credit should be given to them. They worked just as hard as the varsity team. They were also very supportive of the varsity team with their constant cheering and encouragement.

The team's season record ended over .500. Their final record was 8 wins, 8 losses, and 1 tie. This could not have been accomplished without the determination and the hard work put forth by Coach Coates.

With much talent and with more practice, both tennis teams look forward to next season with hope and anticipation of a even more successful season.

Pulls Ahead of the Competition

Even though relatively young, the Kenmore East girls' track team had a 3 - 2 record last spring. The four captains chosen included Chrissy Bleckinger, Sheila Gallagher, Gina Meno, and Barb Young. All of these girls led the team in their respective events.

In the second meet of the season, Kenmore East blew away their arch rivals of Kenmore West, 95 - 37. During this meet Dona Croker, Janet Kowles, and Barb Young led their team with the highest points achieved in any meet. Leading point scorer Janet Kowles, led the school in many events and also, broke the school record on the 3000 meter run. This qualified her for the Section VI State meet in Jamestown.

Despite an 0-6 record, the boys' track team had many exceptional individual performances. Ray Holder broke the school record in both the long and triple jumps. At the NFL meet, Ray placed first in the long jump and second in the triple jump. Tom Jeffries set the first 3000 meter steeple chase record for KE. Mitch Maxzick ran to first place in the 400 intermediate hurdles. Brian Abston places first in the discus. The team of Joe Truman, Ray Holder, Jeff Komorowski, and Mitch Maxick achieved a third place finish in the 1600 meter relay.

This season the JV and Varsity teams were very few in number, which accounted for almost all of their losses. Many times certain individuals ran with the varsity team, but should have been on JV. But at the prestigious Amherst Rotary relays, Ken East finished fifth of twelve against the best teams in W. N. Y.

Coach Gary Tocke and assistant coach Dennis Cinfrini demonstrated superior coaching ability. Both retired from their coaching positions at the end of the indoor track season. Coach Tocke had coached boys track at KE for twenty-four consecutive seasons, while Mr. C. coached for a total of twelve seasons.

Both seasons were filled with great joy and many lasting impressions.

Spikes for Success

The Kenmore East Spikers are one of the most competitive teams in Western New York. This year's team was very strong and explosive. At many times when the game seemed to be going downhill, one of the players would make an intimidating spike and create an uproar in the gym that motivated the entire team. The team appeared to be going places in the sectionals, when an unfortunate loss to Cheektowaga knocked them out of the running in the first round. Post season honors were awarded to four members of the team; seniors Todd Chalmers, Jeff Juliano, and Jeff Kagelmacher were named to the NFL's All-League team, while senior Geoff Cryst was named to the All-Western New York team.

This year the girls' volleyball team also went through an exciting season. Their coach, Miss Hartman, lead them through a good season. With a record of 10 wins and 8 losses, the team made it to sectionals and to semi-finals, which they lost to Lewiston Porter.

Much credit should also be given to the JV teams, both of which had successful seasons. Next year's teams should prove to be a powerful threat to their competitors.

Get Involved

Throughout this book, students have answered the question, "What has made a Lasting Impression on you?" Although the true purpose of school is academic, many of our high school memories will probably be of friends and fun activities. The first message given to freshmen entering East is "get involved". If, like I am, you are frequently in the building after school, and involved in a variety of clubs and organizations, its not hard to tell that those who rush home at 2:50 every day are missing out. They're missing opportunities to make new friends, have new experiences, and learn about themselves. Most of all, they're missing the memories and Lasting Impressions that activities have made on so many of us. High school is what you make of it, and so I hope that, for those who got involved and made the most of it, this Activities section will help you remember the good times, and the Lasting Impressions that KE has hopefully left on you!

Hooray for Spectrum Staff!

The making of a yearbook is one of the most time-consuming activities that goes on at Kenmore East. The finished book, which you are seeing, is the only reward the brave yearbook souls receive for hours of work: drawing and re-drawing layouts, searching for pictures that haven't been taken, and fighting with Macintosh computers that repeatedly give annoying error messages like "that application is busy or missing." This year we changed publishers from Jostens to Herff Jones. Both have slightly different rules, and learning all the quirks added to the exasperation. Since most of the staff was new this year, training new editors became a bigger challenge than other years.

Our returning advisor, who had to juggle yearbook responsibilities with his responsibilities at Mayfair Two studio was Scott Augustine. Our fresh, relatively inexperienced copy advisor was Tom Ryan. This year's staff was led by veteran editors Angela Gorney, Lynn Wilson, and Janet Kowles. The many other editors who put in countless hours to produce this book are pictured in the photos on this page.

As the year has come to a close, the staff at last can return home, relax, and once again experience a social life. Our only dread now is that those of us who return (which is most) will have to do it all again next year. Perhaps next year's book will be the best ever!

We hope that you enjoy this book and that you appreciate the work which took place to meet deadlines and to make this book happen. In retrospect, perhaps it is worth all the work after all.

A Boost for Spirit

Bringing out the Best in KE!

Spirit is an essential element for a successful school. Booster Club is the foundation for spirit at Kenmore East. With the involvement of this club's members, both Hawaiian Homecoming '91 and Winter Sports Rally '92 turned out to be very memorable events. Without all of the involvement by the members and the chairpersons, Booster Club would not have been as successful. This year's officers contributed many hours of outstanding work. The officers for this year were: President, Jennifer DiNunzio; Vice-President, Jessica Smith; Secretary, Chrissy Bleckinger; and Treasurer, Brett Williams.

Members of the club have contributed free time in school by painting signs to encourage students to attend the various sports events. The club also sells beverages during dances and sports games.

Student Congress

Paving the Road to Excellence

Student Congress is made up of all class officers, and representatives from each of the organizations at KE. Congress is lead by president Kory Schuler, vice president Cathy Bero, treasurer Caron Cavaleri, and secretaries Lisa Sproveri and Carolyn Girod. These students work to improve student-faculty relations, enhance the building's appearance, and aid other organizations in their activities.

This year the Student

Congress has participated in many new activities. For example, they partly funded Hawaiian Homecoming. Another new activity was the Halloween Candy-Gram sale. One of the biggest projects this year was a food drive to raise goods for Haven House. It involved many people and a lot of time, and was a great success. Another interesting event was a leadership exchange between Kenmore East and Kenmore West. Leaders met at both schools to discuss the relations between the two rivals. Congress has kept busy.

Peer Team Role Models

What group of Kenmore East students writes and presents skits and also performs with puppets? Why its the KE Peer Team, of course.

This year's Peer Team has 45 selected and trained juniors and seniors under the leadership of guidance counselors Mrs. Randy Carpenter and Mrs. Kathy McCunn, and student coleaders Jennifer DiNunzio and Holly Ciehomski.

The peer team is divided into groups of five or six. Each group either perform skits for sixth graders at Hoover and Franklin Middle Schools or does a puppet show presentation for fourth graders at the elementary schools.

The sixth grade program deals with decision making. Activities are designed to help these younger students make wise decisions for now and the future, particularly concerning drugs, smoking, and alcohol.

The puppet show for the fourth graders relates to self esteem. Children are encouraged to think about the people they feel most comfortable talking to about problems or ideas.

Peer team is not only beneficial to the younger students, but also those who make the presentation. This group gives students a chance to express themselves in front of people, and to learn to get through to younger people, which can sometimes be difficult. Every peer team member hopes to have some kind of personal effect on the younger students' lives.

Cheerleaders Boost KE Spirit

Leading the Way to Victory for KE

Cheerleaders are the Spirit leaders at Kenmore East. The three squads: Freshman, Junior Varsity, and Varsity, cheer for boys football, soccer, basketball, volleyball, swimming, as well as putting on a show at pep rallies. Although cheerleaders are fun to watch, few realize the amount of work that goes into their shows.

The Bulldog cheerleaders began their season in May. During the time from then until September great preparation was made. All cheerleaders attended three practices a week and put on car washes, jump-a-thons, and bake-sales to raise funds. The cheerleaders attended Universal Cheerleaders Association Camp at Pennsylvania State.

Cheerleaders work to prepare cheers and chants until near perfection is reached. They also have high academic standards. If good grades are not maintained, a cheerleader can be dropped from the squad.

The cheerleaders this year had the privilege of cheering for the victorious soccer team and the JV and Freshman football teams. Also, although they usually don't cheer for girl's sports, the cheerleaders appeared in uniform to support the girls Varsity Volleyball team at their championship game.

Band Stays Home

Music Resounds Through KE Halls

The concert band this year is sounding great. A damper was put on the year when the annual citrus fruit sale was cancelled. For lack of money, the greatly anticipated trip to Florida and Disney World was also cancelled. However, the group's many other projects are going well. The group is playing several difficult pieces including "Variations on a Korean Folk Song" and "Baroque Hoedown", the theme song to the Disney Electric Light Parade.

Band president is Jennifer Baker, assisted by Moira Collins, Vice President. The treasurer is Sarah Shocknesse and Secretary is Patricia Laforanara. The band has spent the year fund raising for scholarships and next year's trip. Several craft shows helped with fund raising.

-Jennifer Baker

Orchestral Talent

Classical Notes

Under the direction of Mrs. Melinda Kontos, the orchestra had yet another fine year of playing the classics. Some of their selections included compilations of Broadway hits such as Les Miserables and Cats, and classical pieces written by Mahler, Handel, Moussorgsky, and Beethoven.

As in past years, the orchestra had their annual Niagara Candy boxed and Easter candy sales. These sales helped to raise money for their spring trip to Montreal.

This year's orchestra was complimented by an unusually large brass section and many extremely talented students. Seniors Scott Piatov, Chris Swist, Caryn Pritchard, Melanie Kush, and Laurie Traver were among those orchestra students who participated in prestigious performing groups such as the All County (last spring), Area-All State, All State Conference and Greater Buffalo Youth Orchestra.

All in all, the orchestra was a wonderful addition to this year's music department. Hopefully this tradition of excellence will continue after we graduate.

New Flags Flying

Touch of Class Visual Ensemble

In past years Touch of Class has been a minute part of what's going on at KE, only being recognized as a take off of band activities. However, this year has proven to be a change from the ordinary.

Having placed 20th nationally last year, TOC decided to take this year to the top. Practice after practice, the 18 talented girls in this years program have worked their way up on the road to perfection.

The girls have practiced two to four days a week with the same level of dedication as some of the top guards in the country. This year's program seems to show a greater level of maturity than some other years. This year, the guard dances to a progressive jazz theme, and last year's hot pink dresses have been replaced by a sophisticated black and white print.

Touch of Class has proven to be a great asset to KE, by showing the power of working toward a common goal.

Big Noise From KE

Jazz Music and Improvisation

One of the most enjoyable and upbeat of Kenmore East's performing groups is the stage band. Stage band is a small group consisting of some of the best musicians from the concert band. Since it contains only trumpet, saxophone, trombone, and rhythm sections, the stage band is not very large. The group plays mostly jazz music, and features individual musicians as soloists. The group, by nature is not as formal as the concert band. Members learn to improvise with jazz scales, and to play music with limited practice time. The stage band plays upon request at concerts, banquets, dinner parties, pep rallies, and home football games. Stage band is conducted by Mr. Hathaway, and he is assisted by Lou Rescek and Doug Anderson.

Singing a Popular Tune

Company of Song, a show choir made up of 42 students under the direction of Tom Doyle, tried many new and exciting things this year. Having Company every day as opposed to every other day in the past allowed the group to better prepare for its busy schedule. As in other years, Company performed at the Festival of Lights as well as the Festival of Trees. Other excursions took the group

KE's Mixed Chorus

The Joy of Singing

For those who like to sing and become more confident performers, or need an art/music requirement, the Choraliers and Choralettes are a great opportunity. The group used to be the only unauditioned singing group in the school, but because it became too large, the girls' chorus was begun this year.

The Choraliers and Choralettes sing harmonies, and feature soloists. With less girls in the group, they now have a more balanced sound. Mr. Doyle works with the students on such pieces as "From a Distance", "Henry Mancini Selections", and the "Carol of the Bells".

The group has performed for several community organizations, as well as school concerts. Many chorus members get involved with the musical. This year's officers are Christy Pudlewski, president, Janine Hunter, secretary/treasurer, and Janis Perrin, sergeant at arms.

Liz Vejins sings happily from her window seat in Mr. Doyle's room.

Girls' Chorus

Ken East Has a New Vocal Group

The girls' chorus, new this year, consists of more than forty girls. This chorus was formed for girls who are unexperienced in high school vocal music. The group sings a variety of different songs. Although some of the girls are new to the music scene, many of the girls have returned from earlier years in middle school. Some have also participated in Erie County vocal groups a number of times. The girls have performed for the school and in area nursing homes. Directed by Mr. Doyle, this chorus has progressed rapidly and has had fun doing it. Most of the girls are freshmen and many of them will continue their singing at Kenmore East in Choralletes or Company.

Stars of the Stage

While everyone can act to some extent, those talented thespians who have been featured on the KE stage have a special organization: the Theater Arts Society. The society members, also led by Carrie Pelligrino, work to make each performance better than the last. This year they put on the smash hit You Can't Take It With You. The musical, Wildcat, is also in the works. Every spring Theater Arts has a banquet to welcome new members.

Drama Club Fun

The Drama Club offers KE students interested in drama a chance to practice their skills and work with others. They are also encouraged to get involved with the major KE theatrical events: the play and musical.

This year's club was led by junior Carrie

Pelligrino. The club members did exercises such as "freeze frames" where one student will continue an improvisation begun by another and "machines", where everyone must be creative and work together to create an imaginary machine. All in all, drama club offers everyone a chance to be involved, whether they have time for a drama class or not.

Ken East Salutes Lucille Ball

Kenmore East proudly presents Wildcat, a musical tribute to Lucille Ball, on March 5, 6, and 7. Wildcat is an enchanting musical about a pretty red-haired woman whose casual shirt and dungarees only seem to make her more attractive to the men she meets. She's broke, but fired with imagination and a determination to strike oil. She sets out to hire the greatest oil foreman, Joe Dynamite. Of course, in musical tradition, they fall in love and strike oil.

Kenmore East's answer to the part of Wildcat Jackson was Carey Finn, a veteran performer in her senior year. James Forsaith played opposite

Talented Students Perform in Wildcat

Carey in the role of Joe Dynamite. Chris Andreana added a comic touch in the role of Sookie, a crusty old rancher. Patti Lane played Wildcat's sister, Janie and Jeff Lampke portrayed Hank, Joe's young Mexican sidekick. In vital supporting roles were Barb Young, Steve Sharpe, and Lisa Sproveri. The show-stealing oil crew consisted of Paul Jordan, Brett Williams, Todd Strzelczyk, Dave Palermo, Andrew Franklin, and Nathan West.

Over a hundred KE

students worked to put this production together. The sixty stage performers, working with Mr. Cranston and Mr. Doyle, made up only half of the students involved. Over fifty students worked on the backstage preparations with Mr. Bosworth, and in the orchestra with Mrs. Kontos.

The production staff was led by Carrie Pellegrino, student director. Student production coordinators were Stephanie Achatz and Lynn Wilson. Handling the technical aspects of the show were student technical director Andrew Franklin and stage manager Janet Kowles.

Comedy Is Box Office Smash

This year, 19 talented students performed in Kaufman and Hart's hilarious comedy, You Can't Take It With You. The story centered around Grandpa Vanderhof, played by James Forsaith, an easy-going man who enjoyed living life to the fullest, and the entertaining assortment of people who shared his life and home. They included his daughter, Penelope Sycamore, played by Carrie Pelligrino, who wrote plays about anything from war to sex and Mr. DePinna, played by Jeffery Lampke, who illegally experimented with fireworks in the

You Can't Take It With You

basement. Penelope's daughter Essie, played by Kathy Juraska, was an aspiring ballerina, and her Russian dancing teacher was Boris Kolenkhov, played by Christopher Andreana. On the more serious side of things was the romance between Penelope's daughter Alice, played by Lisa Sproveri, and the handsome Tony Kirby, played by Paul Jordan, who planned to get married despite the differences in their families. Memorable in their supporting roles were Chris Swist, Rachel James, Nathan West, Andrew Franklin, Jennifer Duerr, Michael Chilungu, Janis Perrin, Steve Sharpe, Jessica Ball, Todd Strzelczyk, David Palermo, and Scott Piatov.

The show couldn't have been a success without the help of student director Christie Pudlewski, stage manager Janis Perrin, and props crew chief Stephanie Achatz. You Can't Take It With You was a hit at the box office, and a great experience for all who saw the production or were involved.

The Natural World

Science Club

A new and unique club this year at Kenmore East is the Science Club. This club is supervised by Mr. Brophy and Mr. Critelli. The Science Club takes field trips to places where we can learn about science, such as the Toronto Science Center or the Niagara Gorge where we studied rock formations. We also help tutor people who need help in science. There is a 12 inch reflecting telescope on the school roof used by those interested in Astronomy. This club works with the Wilderness Club in the after-school recycling program. The president of the Science Club is James Forsaith with vice-president Jason Dale, treasurer Nathan Fitzgerald, and secretary Dawn Roberts.

Technical Theater

Backstage Work Has a Lighter Side

I've been told designing, building, and painting sets is supposed to be work. Well, maybe it is, but I think working on the Kenmore East stage for 16 hours straight is fun. I mean, where else can you play with power tools, paint yourself, play with blue lights, order pizza from Gino's, play music really loud over the sound system, play hide-n-seek in a dark aud, and lose your mind all in one day? Seriously though, if it weren't for Stage Crew there wouldn't be many productions here. We get help from people like Mr. Bosworth and Mr. Patton (who has done many amazing backdrops), but the students involved do most of the work.

I can truly say there is nothing like the thrill when the final curtain closes and the final show is done. I hope my successors will have as many great memories as I have.

United We Stand

Race Unity Club

The Race Unity Club was created to teach students the importance of recognizing the significance of other cultures, races, and ethnic groups. We try to promote the equality of all peoples, and to establish harmony among all. We discourage racism and prejudice among both students and faculty. We do this by explaining the negative aspects of racism in our society. Our showcases provide a visual representation of our standards and beliefs. Many believe that it is a conflict of black and white, but it goes further than that. We feel that all people are equal. This includes Native Americans, African-Americans, Orientals, Hispanics, and Whites. Only when there is racial equality and harmony will the Race Unity Club no longer be needed. We hope, for the sake of future generations, that our goal is achieved.

End Alcohol Abuse

Drunk Driving is a Sobering Thought

Drinking and driving is the number one cause of death among people between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one. SADD - or "Students Against Drunk Driving" - is an organization devoted to combatting the problem of alcohol abuse. Under the leadership of Liz Vejins and staff advisor, Mr. White, SADD involvement and awareness has grown. The year was filled with many activities that gave members a chance to get involved, such as the Homecoming Float, Red Ribbon Day, and the After Prom Breakfast.

Every twenty minutes, someone dies in an accident related to alcohol abuse. The day before winter break, SADD members represented this statistic by all wearing black to school. Every 20 minutes, a bell was rung over the PA system. A student was pulled out of class, and a red ribbon tied around their arm. This person was "dead" and could not speak or communicate for the rest of the school day.

Something else new this year was the Prom Promise. Students signed a pledge to be drug and alcohol free on prom night. Hopefully, with the success of this activity, it will become a tradition here at Kenmore East. Thanks to the involvement of its members, S.A.D.D. has really made an impact on the school and community. Remember that "Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk."

Taken For Granted

KE Bookstore

The bookstore, under the direction of Miss Abramson and president Auralee Bellafaire, sells an array of items, from essential review books and school supplies, to KE clothes. Bookstore students spend their lunch period in the store. Along with providing needed articles for students, the salespeople get a chance to meet new people and make new friends. Although the bookstore has changed some through the years, the organization's main purpose will always be to provide for the students.

The People Who Start the Morning

One of the most taken-for-granted groups in the school is the P.A. announcement staff. Every morning after the bells ring, the friendly voice of one of its members reports on the many events at K.E. The scores of many sports teams, and upcoming dates of meetings are just a few of the subjects they discuss. They sometimes use humor to try to start each day with a positive fresh beginning. Without their efforts K.E. life would not be the same.

The Faces Behind The Sound

K.E. Radio fills the school with all types of music. Coming to K.E. early most mornings, its members have a great responsibility. Their efforts help give K.E. an inviting environment. During lunches, the music plays to create a relaxing feeling for most students. Their time and dedication is not always acknowledged, though.

Colleen O'Donnell and Michele Bannan display bookstore merchandise.

Wilderness Club

Going Wild in the Out-of-Doors

Although the idea of a weekend in the untamed wilderness can be unappealing to many, the "Wilderness Nerds" enjoy nothing more. The club makes two or three excursions a year, carrying food and clothes and supplies on their backs. Pyromaniacs roast hotdogs and marshmallows over the fire, and those more daring can wash their hair in the frigid waters of the Allegheny Reservoir. The club also enjoys rock climbing, and this year experienced the unique challenge of the Ropes Course at Camp Weona.

Although the club members like to have fun, they are also concerned about the environment. Last year the club began a paper recycling program, which they have continued this year with the help of the Science Club. The club also hopes to plant a row of evergreens as a windbreak along the Soccer Field fence for Earth Day.

Read All About It

Eastonian is Making Headlines

This year, the Eastonian editors Jen Cercone, Shelia Gallagher, and Liz Vejins set new goals for the paper. Issues are more frequent this year- about once a month, and new features have been added. James Forsaith is the Tom Toles of Kenmore East, and Erin English can be counted on for conservative commentary. The writing pair of Scott Piatov and Dan Wiltberger has a revue feature, "the Magic Box", and Ann Marie Hedges features prominent KE sports teams. Many others have contributed to this newspaper, which is, more and more, becoming a true periodical, and making its mark as the Voice of Kenmore East.

The Blazing Blades

Varsity Hockey

The Kenmore East Varsity Hockey Team finished their season with a record of 12-4. The team had a great year, but incurred a six game suspension due to a bench-clearing brawl against Maryvale. The Bulldogs had great depth which led them to sole possession of first place before serving their suspension. The team was led by tri-captains J.J. Tasca, Shawn Wagner, and Bob Staerker. The Bulldogs displayed a very physical style of play due to the strong performance of both Shawn and Steve Robek. Offensively, the line of Shawn Wagner, J.J. Tasca and Rob McNamara combined for over hundred points while the defensive play of Bob Staerker, Bill Bing, Tony Silvestri, and Brian Buxton held many teams scoreless. Juniors Eron Lewis and Eric Baumgartner and Sophomore Dave Coffey also helped out on offense. Assistant captains Mike Mellott and Pat Staerker played great for East and will be two of the top players in the league next year. Goaltenders Tom Golinski and Craig Chillelli played consistently, and singlehandedly won many games for East. The Bulldogs thank the many fans who supported them this season.

-J.J. Tasca

Downhill Ski Club

Hitting the Slopes

The Kenmore East Ski Club once again this year graced the slopes of Holiday Valley.

With officers Mike King, president, and Brian Hilliman, vice-president, the group of over 40 members had a season of fun and enjoyment. Every Tuesday night, for eight weeks, members boarded a bus to take them to the nearby ski resort. They skied from their time of arrival until 10:30 PM when they sadly tore themselves from the beloved slopes.

In addition to skiing, ski club enjoys the comfort of the warm lodges in which they seek warmth, rest, and nourishment. Ski club has been known to engage in some pretty interesting conversations ranging from the design of their facial features to self defense techniques while enjoying some fries and brownies.

Ski club offers students a chance to partake in an endeavor different from the norm. Members learn a new sport or perfect an old one, getting good exercise and making new friends.

Let's All S.H.A.R.E.

Learning by Helping Others

This year, there is a new club with no equal. For the very first time, Kenmore East has the S.H.A.R.E. club.

"S.H.A.R.E." stands for "Special Handicapped Assistance with peer Relationships in Education." This exciting club involves students who are interested in giving up a small portion of their time to be peer partners with students who are either mentally or physically handicapped. A club member will help the handicapped students in community training situations, such as ordering food at a restaurant, shopping for clothes, or taking a metro train downtown. S.H.A.R.E. club members will also take part in fun activities like going to the video arcade, seeing movies, and having lunch at a deli. All of this is paid for through fund raising activities that are held all throughout the year.

People such as Patti Lane and Lauren Ide take great pride in being part of the club. Patti has decided to go into Special Education for a career. She says, "Every time I walk into the room I feel accepted." Lauren believes that she too will do this type of work for a living. I've found that, no matter who I ask, everyone loves the S.H.A.R.E. club!

Experience Culture

Exchange and French Clubs

The Exchange Club has been busy this year in preparation for the French exchange students, who are coming in Late February from le Lyceé Frédéric Mistral in Avignon, France. during their visit, they will experience everything from class at KE to midnight bowling. The club hopes that this experience will leave a lasting impression on students from both countries.

-Stephanie Achatz

French Club this year was a fun learning experience for all involved. The club officers were president Julie Miller and vice-president Stephanie Achatz. While French students learn the French language in class, in French club they experience French life and culture. One cultural activity this year was a Christmas party, where they ate French food and listened to French Christmas carols. The club members anticipate helping with the coming French exchange.

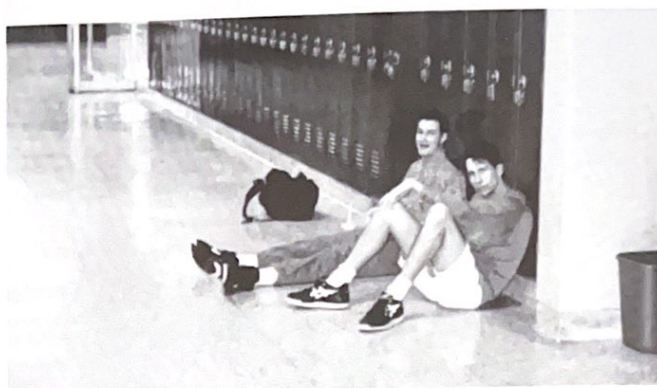

Josh Rubin and Steve Sharpe are through singing, and ready to leave.

Going Home

It's been a busy year. The all school play was one of the best ever, and the musical did well too. The Touch of Class added a new sophistication to their show, and Company of Song began rehearsing every day. Kenmore East added two new organizations this year: Share Club and Girls' Chorus. Student Congress, SADD, Race Unity Club, and the Wilderness Club (together with Science Club) all worked to make Kenmore East a better place. For a good fraction of the student body, this meant a lot of time, talent, and hard work, together with fun. Now the year is just about over, and, with some exceptions, like Cheerleading and Stage Band, all these students can relax and enjoy the summer. Everyone who took the time to be involved will be left with a feeling of accomplishment, and a year's worth of Lasting Impressions.

My Dream Come True

I sit and imagine him
with his dark brown hair, and deep brown eyes
that extend into forever.

In my mind I picture his willingness and determination to strive for the best, and succeed.

He has knowledge that I can only dream of having.

Oh how I'd love to meet and share my life
with this person.

But alas, I have, and I
am ever grateful,
Because he is the one person for whom I can truthfully say I love
from all the hidden places in my heart.

Crushed

The world has got me feeling sad.

I feel that I have lost,
Everything that I have ever had.

With every new day, comes a tear.

I Would like all the pain,
To go away with all the fear.

I keep a smile on my face.
Deep inside it changes to a frown,
Because my feelings are not in place.

Happiness is what I need inside.
The dream of someday being loved,

Keeps something in me
burning alive.

Your eyes are like crystal,
the color of the calmest sea.
Your touch is soft and gentle,
which warms the inside of me.
Your voice is strong and proud,
yet loving and reassuring.
You always say the words
I long to be hearing.
Your kiss is sweet and perfect,
it brightens my whole day.
I want to be with you,
whenever we are away.
You're a girl's hopes and wishes,
my dreams have come true.
I cherish each moment,
that I am near you.
She loves me, she loves me not,
is a game you'll never have to play.
I think you know the answer,
need more I say?
If you do then here's a clue:
my someone special, I LOVE YOU!

Michael Ihrig, a special education teacher at Kenmore East, was one of the Spectrum Yearbook Advisors for seven years. His time, dedication, and hard work ensured us a creative yearbook of consistent quality, and his sudden death saddens all of us at Kenmore East. We are dedicating this year's Spectrum to Mr. Ihrig, and the Ihrig family. His inspiration and influence lives on, as our senior staff members continue to pass along Mr. Ihrig's ideals to our younger yearbook staff. The following are some of the lasting impressions Mike has left on us:

Dedicated colleague... caring teacher... special counselor and advisor... loyal friend... devoted father... His love and devotion to family and friends, his commitment to young people, his enthusiasm and wit, and his empathy for others touched our lives and filled our hearts...

Spectrum Staff Has Survived Another Year

Special Thanks to:

All the freshman assistants
for doing what no one else
wanted to,
Andrew Franklin
for his time,
Nick Strascina and Lauren Ide
for their photography,
Danielle Darowz,
for extra pictures,
Chris Camp
for I.D.ing a zillion pictures,
Mimi Augustine
for a wonderful meal,
Mrs. Wilson
for bringing us food,
The Custodial staff
for putting up with us,
and the Administration
for their support.

Our Lasting Impressions

Being kicked out of the building by the custodians at 11 PM

"But Mr. Ryan, I can't do a page without any pictures!"

"Why don't you cut pictures out of last year's book?"

Ants and Mice

You know you have no life when you wash your hands in the drinking fountain.

Angela and Lynn having an orange triangle war

Seniors, what seniors?

Nikki hitting Todd Strzelczyk in the head with the white out

Todd has good stomach muscles, and no butt

Janet attempting front limbres in the middle of the computer room

Photocopy collages

Dopey

How much is that girlie in the window?

"Hey man, crank up the phone!"

Lauren Salomon's face turning the same color as her fuschia shirt

Taking pictures off the Community Room bulletin board

Spinning down the hall to become dizzy

Angela eating the can of beans she found in the cabinet in the computer room

"Do I look like I care? 'Cause I don't!"

"Who pushed the panic button?"

Erica eating a plastic spider

Jessica falling off the chair into the drawer

Our "clean" Spectrum office

Scott's awesome toilet

Watching Scott on the roof as we did the "92", I thought he was going to jump

Jessica and company working on the x/*I. index
